

ATMA RAM SANATAN DHARMA COLLEGE (UNIVERSITY OF DELHI)

Finance and Investment Cell (FIC)

The tenure of the Finance and Investment Cell (FIC) this year has been marked by strategic initiatives, consistent execution, and a strong commitment to both practical exposure and academic enrichment. It began on a high note with the launch of FIC's official website (www.ficarsd.org) on 10th September 2025, a milestone that significantly enhanced the cell's digital presence and outreach. This platform not only streamlined communication but also served as a central hub for resources, projects, and knowledge dissemination.

One of the most commendable aspects of this tenure was the successful onboarding and execution of live consulting projects which ended in February 2026. Collaborations with reputed brands such as Bombay Shaving Company and After Habit provided members with invaluable real-world experience. These projects bridged the gap between theoretical understanding and practical application, strengthening FIC's positioning as a platform that fosters industry-relevant skills.

Simultaneously, the content department undertook a pivotal transformation by initiating FIC's official monthly newsletter, "FINCEPTION", along with regularly updated blogs integrated into the website's library. This initiative ensured a steady flow of insightful, well-researched content, contributing to financial awareness and intellectual engagement within and beyond the college community.

The tenure also marked the successful execution of the annual flagship event, Summit'25, held on 4th November 2025. Designed as a comprehensive learning experience, the event featured engaging speaker sessions, intellectually stimulating case files, and an innovative football simulation game. This blend of knowledge and interaction not only enhanced participant engagement but also reinforced FIC's reputation for hosting dynamic and value-driven events.

Further elevating the tenure was the successful execution of the International Conference on Indian Knowledge System (ICIKS), held on 17th and 18th March 2026. This event stood as a testament to FIC's ability to operate at a larger scale, bringing together ideas, discussions, and perspectives that extended beyond conventional finance domains. The conference played a crucial role in broadening the intellectual scope of participants while strengthening the cell's institutional credibility.

In line with its commitment to academic excellence, FIC also launched its Finance Book on 8th April, 2026 and released the 2nd Edition of Equity Research Report on DLF Limited on 13th April 2026. These initiatives ensured that learning remained structured, research-driven, and accessible. By consistently producing high-quality academic resources, FIC upheld its mission of promoting financial literacy and analytical thinking.

Moreover, the successful execution of over three projects under the Parcham drive further highlighted the cell's efficiency and impact. These initiatives demonstrated a well-rounded approach, balancing consulting, content creation, research, and event management seamlessly.

Overall, this tenure can be characterized as a period of growth, innovation, and consolidation. Each initiative, whether digital, academic, or experiential, contributed to building a stronger and more impactful FIC. The collective efforts of the team have not only elevated the cell's standards but also laid a solid foundation for future endeavors.

As this tenure comes to an end, it leaves behind a legacy of excellence and a clear roadmap for continuity. With sustained momentum and a commitment to innovation, FIC is well-positioned to continue delivering value and achieving greater milestones in the upcoming tenure.
